Building Bridges through Puppetry

Calgary, AB, Canada – There are many types of bridges and bridge builders. Puppets are among the best bridge builders because they are a fun and accessible way to create thought-provoking experience and conversation.

WP Puppet Theatre presents

Puppet Power 2016 :: Connecting Generations

May 28 and 29, 2016

Calgary, Alberta

Downtown West – Kerby Centre

This biennial gathering of practitioners from around the world will be inspiring some of our province's most important resources: front line support workers in our health and education systems.

Puppetry brings a voice to experiences and creates safe conversations. This leads to new ways of perceiving contemporary life and its many social and cultural challenges. That is why every two years, educators, therapists, professionals, artists and community leaders join together to discover the endless ways in which we can use puppets. This year, on the theme of Connecting Generations, we will examine the compelling strength of puppetry in advocating, educating and celebrating community connections across generations.
